

Treasury Deficit Growing Larger

WASHINGTON — The gross treasury deficit is about to hit one billion dollars today as business begins to move faster with the flow of relief and pump-priming spending.

Because treasury figures lag a couple of days behind current accounts it is quite possible that the deficit already has exceeded $1,000,000,000 (B) for this fiscal year.

Latest figures through Oct. 17 compare treasury fiscal year accounts of that date this year with a year ago as follows:

This year: Expenses $2,663,000,000 (B).

Receipts $1,634,000,000.

Gross Deficit $979,000,000 (M).

National Debt $38,442,000,000 (B).

Last year: Expenses $2,294,000,000 (B).

Receipts $1,644,000,000.

Gross Deficit $449,000,000 (M).

National Debt $36,942,000,000 (B).

Favorable business developments, such as early re-employment of 35,000 (I) General Motors factory workers, and restoration of pay cuts to some 80,000 (I) C. M. White collar employees are part of the general picture of a broadening recovery base which many observers link directly to increased federal spending.

There are persons among both friends and enemies of the new deal who find it significant that the 1937-38 depression coincided with a slackening of government spending and that the current business upturn follows close behind a resumption of pump-priming. This pump-priming is directly affecting treasury figures as indicated by comparison of October figures for 1938 and 1937.

One year ago President Roosevelt still was in the process of applying economy brakes. The 17-day increase in spending, receipts and gross deficit in October 1938 compared with October, 1937 show that the administration is tremendously increasing the expenditure rate this year.

Largest Enrollment In Fifty-Eight Years

STATE COLLEGE—More students are attending Mississippi State College today than at any time during the school's 58 years of operation.

Registration officials announced a total enrollment of 2080, topping last year's registration by 77. They state that late registrations would probably increase the figure.

By schools, Engineering heads the list with 563. The other four undergraduate schools rank as follows: Agriculture 487; Business, 404; Education, 353; and Science, 321.

The four year old Graduate School, with 56 students, shows an increase over last year's enrollment.

The freshman class leads with 676, and the junior class is second with 625, due to a large increase of junior college graduates. Sophomores number 478, seniors 437, and special students 23.

With possible candidates for degrees numbering 427, last year's record graduating group of 399 will be surpassed.

Mr. Clark had all of his children with him for the day. Jesse Clark and Miss Anabel, who live with him, Mrs. Sarah E. Bates, of Jackson, Tenn., and Mrs. W. H. Carter, of this community. Two granddaughters were also present, Mrs. Carl Beatright and Miss Wilma Carter.

W. R. Joiner Has Narrow Escape

William R. Joiner, carrier for Rural Route Four out of Grenada had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday when he lost control of his car near Webster and Grenada County line.

His car left the bridge crossing House Pen Creek crashing through the railing and was hanging straight down when it stopped.

Mr. Joiner states it was several minutes before he could extricate himself and call for help. It took the combined efforts of a wrecker and all the help in the community to get his car back out.

Many are congratulating him on his good luck—to escape with only a bruise.

CCC BOYS CHECK FIRE

The local CCC Camp is due credit for bringing under control a fire which originated in the colored cemetery, west of the white cemetery, and threatened the homes on West Govan Street Friday afternoon as well as the white cemetery and all of Pine Hill.

The origin of the conflagration, last night, in the colored cemetery is unknown. The spread of the flames was rapid, Charlie Ross, who lives nearby reported, and was brought in check after two hours hard work by the camp boys, who arrived promptly from their headquarters at the fair grounds.

SOLDIERS RETURN

NAPLES—Ten thousand Italian soldiers, returning from the Spanish Civil War, received an uproarious welcome today.

King Victor Emmanuel, Crown Prince Umberto, Count Galeazzo Ciano, foreign minister, and Achille Starace, secretary general of the Fascist party, came to join Neapolitans in the reception.

Church bells pealed and sirens of ships shrieked as the troops landed from the troop ships Liguria, Piemonte, Calabria and Sardegna, and airplanes circled overhead.

Naples had been preparing the welcome for 10 days, and the entire city joined in a festival for the veterans of the Littorio and march 23rd divisions of Fascist militia who comprised the contingent.

King Victor Emmanuel and Crown Prince Umberto reviewed the troops in a special parade this afternoon.

Postal Employees Have Meeting

A good attendance is reported by Post Master George Criss for the meeting of Postal Employees held at the Community House last night. The principal speaker of the evening was President George Purcell of the National Organization.

The welcome address was made by local Post Master George Criss to which Mrs. Anna K. Maulding, Post Mistress of Water Valley responded.

Mr. W. R. Waldrop, Post Master of Courtland, presided. He is President of the state organization of Post Masters.

Interesting talks were made by the Secretary of the association, Mrs. Maude B. Morris of Mayhew, and Mrs. M. L. Beall of Lexington. The employees enjoyed a pot luck dinner together, with coffee and tea being furnished by Grenada Grocery Company.

DR. T. J. BROWN—AN APPRECIATION

A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches. He has left this good name, a heritage, to his family and his friends. He abhors hypocrisy and deceit. He, hating sham, was an upright man, a man of valor who lived above reproach. He admired a noble man or woman. He was a proud man, proud in a noble sense - proud of his God, proud of his family, proud of his town, Grenada, and proud of his boyhood community. He was endowed with one of God's greatest gifts, sentiment. He loved the beautiful world God gave us and did more than his part to keep it beautiful. True to all men, faithful to every trust, a man among men. Truly, he has begun his abode in the Father's house to dwell with the redeemed forever.

Arabs Teach Powers Of World

BERLIN — The Arabian club of Berlin today appealed to President Roosevelt, Adolf Hitler, Premier Edward Daladier of France and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain to work for a just solution of the Palestine problem. Differently worded telegrams were sent in each instance. The telegram to Hitler said:

"In the name of the peace to which you have devoted yourself and the name of justice which you serve, we appeal to you to exercise your peaceful efforts and gigantic influence for a just solution of the Palestine problem—Arabs and the entire Mohammedan world will always remember you for such action."

The club is an organization of Arabs studying in Germany.

JAPS MAKE CLAIM

SHANGHAI — Japanese news agency dispatches asserted today that two of China's crack generals, sent to the southern front to aid in the defense of Hankow, had appealed to generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to assume personal direction of the campaign.

According to the dispatches, which quoted sources at Hong Kong, Gen. Li Tsung-Jen and Gen. Pai Chung-Hui, two of the "big three" generals of southwest China, made the appeal. They asked Chiang, it was said, to abandon his duties at Hankow and take command on the south China front.

It was noted here that this appeal followed a message by Eugene Chen, former Chinese foreign minister, to Cantonese leaders at Hankow, complaining that Chiang had decided that the defense of Canton and that he had taken from the Cantonese their airplanes and their best troops.

Three days ago, Japanese sources here asserted that they had received information that Chiang had moved his headquarters to a point between Hankow and Canton, so that he could command both the central and southern campaigns.

ROUND UP THE ARABS

JERUSALEM — British troops today rounded up 300 Arabs prisoners in old Jerusalem, where they had lifted a two-day rebel siege by storming through the gates of the 16th century walls.

The prisoners, all men, denied they were rebels, but they were questioned, examined for shoulder bruises that might have been made by rifle butts, and held for identification.

Sporadic fighting continued in the Moslem quarter, where the rebels were making a last stand. The toll of the British occupation 50 far had been nine Arabs killed and 16 persons wounded, including two British policemen and a soldier.

Woman Can Sock Another

LOS ANGELES—On the premise that a woman can sock another, but a man can't, two United States women deputy marshals today led the government's attack to dispossess Mrs. Anna Laura Barnett.

The deputies were backed by grizzled U. S. Marshal Bob Clark, police squads and the marines if necessary, but the shuffling forces were considerably back of the women.

Clark bore a fresh memory of Mrs. Barnett, widow of the late wealthy Indian Jackson Barnett and illegal possessor of his mansion, as she clutched a hapless photographer by the scalp while her daughter punched his face.

Deputies Esther Walling and Betty K. Smith were to approach the Wilshire Boulevard colonel home of Mrs. Barnett accompanied by Clark and three male deputies.

SPECIAL COUNCIL SESSION

The City Council will meet in special session, October 24 to hear tax complaints from Grenada property owners.

After having been disappointed on two occasions by the non-arrival of essential parts of the lighting equipment, the Grenada football fans will be given their first opportunity to see a night game on the local football field.

The lights have been installed at the Fair Grounds, and everything is in readiness for the game with Houston. The game will begin at 7:30 p. m. Regular admission prices at the gate will be 40c for adults and 25c for school children. There is no doubt a large number of people who have not contributed to the lighted field will be willing to buy a "Booster Ticket" for $1.00. This ticket admits the holder to any one game scheduled this season. Of course, it is not necessary to have a booster ticket to attend a game, since those who do not wish to contribute in this way may buy a ticket to any game for 40c. At the present time there is a deficit of about $400 on the total cost of the field, and it is hoped that an unusually large number of people will turn out for the opening game. Even if you are not a football fan, come out and do your bit in boosting a play ground development which will be of community service in many ways other than football.

Below is a comparison of the two teams.

MISS WORD'S CLASS VISITS SENTINEL-STAR

The students and Miss Word were particularly interested in the mechanism of the three linotypes which are in the office.

Wage-Hour Law In Effect Monday

WASHINGTON—Federal control over wages and hours in inter-state industry becomes effective at 12:01 a. m. Monday, under the fair labor Standards Act of 1938.

After that hour it will be illegal for those covered by the statute to work more than 44 hours a week unless they are paid in money at the rate of time and one-half for the overtime. The minimum hourly wage becomes 25 cents.

The act was passed by the last congress and signed by President Roosevelt on June 23. It is estimated that 11,000,000 (M) workers will be affected by its provisions.

Ultimately the law will establish a ceiling of 40 hours over the standard work week for those covered by the act and a floor of 40 cents an hour under wages. Approach to that objective is gradual.

Standards automatically established Monday morning provide for a 44 hour week and a minimum pay-rate of 25 cents an hour. The work week may be extended provided the employee is compensated in money for overtime at a rate one and one-half times the regular rate of pay.

The act undertakes also abolition of "oppressive child labor." Both with respect to child labor and the wage and hours standards imposed, enforcement of the act will bar from commerce all goods produced in violation of its terms or in violation of orders of the administration, Elmer F. Andrews.

Several penalties may be assessed against violators. The maximum penalty for the first willful violation is a $10,000 (T) fine. Penalty for a second willful violation could be a $10,000 (T) fine, imprisonment for not more than six months, or both.

The act provides for industry committees. Some businessmen are said to be under the impression that the wage-hour provisions do not become operative in any industry until its industry committee has been appointed and has made recommendations to the wage-hours administration. That is a mistake. Actually only one industry committee has been appointed—for textiles—but the provisions of the act become effective generally at the appointed hour.

Application of wage-hours provisions presumably will invalidate parts of existing union labor contracts which do not conform to the law now about to become operative. Included in the act is a paragraph stipulating that the new legislation shall not justify an employer in reducing wages paid in excess of proposed minimum wages nor justify increasing hours of employment which now are less than the maximum hours provided by the act.

That language, however, does not forbid and evidently is not enforceable. Therefore, it represents merely the hope of congress. Wage-hours administrator Andrews described that paragraph as "pious hope," but he was urged that employers voluntarily conform to the policy suggested.

In addition to fines and imprisonment, there is provision for double-indemnity of employer to employee for violations. Recourse to the courts may be had, as follows:

1. Employees may sue to recover unpaid minimum wages or unpaid overtime compensation. Violating employers are liable for unpaid sums plus an equal amount of damages, and court costs including reasonable attorney fees.

2. Employers or employees aggrieved by a wage order may obtain review of the order in a United States circuit court but the court's power of review is limited to questions of law, the administrator's findings of fact being conclusive when supported by substantial evidence.

3. The Federal Government may prosecute criminally for violations of the act or for discharge of, or discrimination against, any employee who has filed a complaint under the act or testified in a wage hearing. The administrator may ask a federal district court to restrain violations of the act by injunction.

The standard work week established by the act is as follows: Oct. 24, 1938 to Oct. 1939, 44 hours; Oct. 24, 1939 to Oct. 24, 1940, 42 hours; thereafter 40 hours. The law does not prohibit employment in excess of the standard work week provided the employee is compensated in money (not time-off, at a rate not less than one and one-half times the regular rate.

Wage minima are established: 1. Oct. 24, 1938 to Oct. 24, 1939, 25 cents an hour. 2. Six years from Oct. 24, 1939 to Oct. 24, 1945, 30 cents an hour. 3. Thereafter 40 cents an hour. But congress held that it might be possible before 1945 to establish wages above 25 or 30 cents an hour "without substantially curtailing employment." So congress authorized wage determination committees equally representative of employers, labor and the public. These committees may recommend rates higher than 25 or 30 cents but not higher than 40 cents an hour and the administration, upon recommendation, only, may enforce them. If the administration disagrees with an industry committee, he may dissolve it and appoint a new one.

The wage and hours division has generally defined employees covered by the act and general exemptions.

Those covered by the act are: 1. Employees engaged in producing, manufacturing, mining, handling, transporting or in any manner working on goods moving in interstate commerce. 2. Employees engaged in any progress or occupation necessary to the production of such goods. 3. Employees engaged in interstate transportation, transmission or communication.

The administrator's first interpretative bulletin defined the foregoing as including office workers and maintenance and custodial employees of concerns subject to the act—a night watchman, for instance, employed by a firm engaged in interstate industry. Neither wage nor hour provisions apply to:

1. Agricultural workers, seamen, employees of airlines, street car, motorbus, inter-urban railways and of weekly or semi-weekly newspapers of less than 3,000 (T) circulation largely distributed in the county of publication. 2. Persons employed in a bona fide executive, administrative, professional, or local retailing capacity, or as outside salesmen. 3. Persons employed in any retail or service establishment, the greater part of whose servicing or selling is in intrastate commerce. 4. Persons employed in fishing and the fishing industry. 5. Persons employed in the area of production to handle or prepare or can agricultural or horticultural commodities for market, or employed to make dairy products. The act forbids regional differentials but directs that consideration be given to factors such as freight rates, living costs, costs of production, established wages, etc. Individual certificates may be issued for underscale payment to learners, apprentices and "handicapped" workers.

All the foregoing is administered by the administration of the wage and hour division of the labor department. Provisions relating to child labor are administered by Katherine F. Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau of the Labor Department.

LET'S HAVE BETTER CHAPEL PROGRAMS

So far, there seems to have been little interest taken in presenting varied and lively chapel programs. Every student and teacher enjoys the break in the week's monotony that chapel affords each Wednesday. We like a variety—something a bit different each week.

The chapel program given by the seniors was a slight variation. Chapel programs should give some inspiration, some information, and some entertainment. Why not carefully plan programs to meet these needs? Why not introduce some new material at this time? Why not make chapel period the period of the week?

BAND ELECTS OFFICERS

Beginning the new school year the Grenada High Band has elected officers. They are as follows:

Dick Rule, president, succeeding Bobby Sharp; Frank Rose, vice-president, succeeding Walter Giffie; Walter Giffie, secretary-treasurer, succeeding Shep Warner; Paul Lockett, reporter, succeeding Shep Warner. Dick Rule is also the newly appointed drum major, succeeding Peggy Spain.

New trousers for the entire band have been ordered. The trousers are to carry out the color scheme of the capes, maroon with white stripes. It is hoped that the new uniforms will arrive in time for the band to display them Friday night on the newly lighted football field.

STUDENTS TO BE HEARD OVER WGRM

Beginning Sunday, October 23, a series of talks on the British Isles will be presented over radio station WGRM by the students of the High School.

The title of the series is "An American Looks at Britain". Each talk will cover a period of fifteen minutes. The first one will be heard October 23, and will be presented by Dick Rule.

BAND TO HAVE CONCERT

In a few weeks the Grenada High School Band will have a concert. The purpose of this concert will be to raise money with which to meet current needs. Numbering about 60 members, Grenada's band this year is the largest in its history. Since this is so, more money is needed for the purchase of music and instruments. The band will present a good program consisting of marches and overtures. Tickets will soon be on sale. Buy one and help the band.

G. H. S. CHATTERBOX

May, you certainly looked down-hearted Sunday afternoon while you and Andrew were riding.

Wonder if Edgar had to have inspiration to play so well in the Greenville-Grenada game. The football sponsor looked very charming at that game. Maybe that was it.

Bill Lamar and Gus Hodges seem to be getting along fine. Weren't you two at the show together the other night?

Wonder if Cleve Griffin is enjoying that Shakespearean play he's reading. The name of it is "Love Labor's Lost". As Cleve seems to have no interest in the girls, I imagine he rather enjoys it.

Did all of you kids have a pleasant time at the fair? We hope you did, anyway. While you are writing those themes remember the good time you had and don't grieve about a little theme-writing.

Miss Haynes—If you added seventy-six thousand, nine hundred twenty-three to eighty-one thousand, four hundred twelve, what would you get?
 Billy Foster—A wrong answer.

Miss Turner: How are you on punctuation, Dick?
 Dick Rule: Oh, I always get to school on time.

Francis Hill's mother: How do you like your English teacher, Francis?

"All right," replied Francis.
 "Is your teacher smart?" persisted the questioner.
 "Well, she does know more than I do," admitted Francis.

Susan: "Paul's been sitting there all day doing nothing."
 Gene: "How do you know?"
 Susan: "Because I've been sitting here watching him."

A TAX IS NO REMEDY

Now comes Hank Wallace, who has made a miserable and despicable mess of the cotton farmer's business—and who was too hardheaded to permit the last Congress to leave American export cotton free to enter world competition—with an outlawed panacea—the Processing Tax as a cure for the cotton farmer's present ills.

As usual the prattle of Mr. Wallace is absurd, useless, and further more promises to once again be of the injurious type. But on the other hand—true to precedent of all the departments at Washington which have made radical departures from old time American customs—it has the power to create more revenue for a government spendthrift program, and a procedure which will, as in the past, keep the department of agriculture's thumbs in the button-holes of the farmer's shirt.

A checkup of the entire lending-spending, hokuspokus magic program which has hung a debt of approximately 40 billion over the heads of Americans, reveals that, without exception, a larger group has been added to the governmental subservient class.

Cotton farmers should become vigilant and ask their congressmen, through letters, to free them of these shackles, which are fastened by a Washington bureaucracy. A tax to be paid on the article which they produce cannot benefit them any more than a tariff to be paid on an imported article benefits the foreign manufacturer.

If without this tax, the consumption of American cotton has decreased, and it is only reasonable to suppose it will be further suppressed by a tax of any nature.

Rotarians Entertain Rotary Annes

(By PECK HARRIS)

A most enjoyable occasion was the dinner party tendered the Rotary Annes by local Rotarians Tuesday evening at the Community House, which was most appropriately decorated with Rotary emblems on huge banners circling the room. The color scheme of blue and orange, was beautifully carried out in the table decorations and flowers, being lighted with pumpkin candlesticks. President Roy Doak presided throughout in his usual affable manner.

After two Rotary songs thanks were returned by Rev. Liles and guests were seated. A delightful four-course dinner had been prepared by the ladies of the Methodist Missionary Society, and was graciously served by a bevy of charming young ladies. An excellent program of music was rendered by Grenada High School Band, directed by Roger Dollarhide, during the dinner.

Roll was called by Secretary O. D. Spratlin, each Rotarian answering by name, giving his classification, and introducing his guests. Some fifteen guests other than Rotary Annes were present. Some one thought John Pressgrove must be running for Governor since he introduced so many guests—incidentally, nearly forgetting to introduce his "Anne."

Miss Martha Wiggins entertained with several tap dance numbers accompanied by Mrs. Ann Pressgrove at the piano. Miss Wiggins appeared before the club several times and is very popular with the group.

Andrew Carothers introduced the speaker of the evening, Chancellor Court Judge L. A. Smith, of Holly Springs, who brought down the house with his most humorous discourse. We would not attempt to outline the judge's theme, but some of the "highlights" were the "statistics" which he reiterated should be of some use to somebody, his flight into poetic realms and his clever references to Grecian mythology, touching lightly on the subject of woman—"fashioned from Adam's rib, thus a side issue and an afterthought", and the beginning of all man's troubles. He redeemed himself with the ladies however, by admitting that he would not attempt to say how much trouble men are to the women. Seriously though, Judge Smith brought out some fine points relative to his own work in the courts. He also pointed out the good results that will surely be derived from Rotary's International relations.

Our former Rotarian, Bill Boone, now of Batesville, entertained with several songs, accompanied by Mr. Petty also of Batesville, adding much to the pleasure of the evening.

President Roy Doak then brought the program to a close with a few well chosen words of appreciation to John Pressgrove, chairman of the program committee and to all the entertainers, and expressed again the pleasure of the club in having the ladies and other visitors present.

Bonnie LaGrone, then, on behalf of the ladies, sang "We Measure Our Love to Show You" aptly illustrating with one of the favors presented each Anne a tape line bearing the Rotary emblem and motto. Everyone joined in singing Auld Lang Syne, thus bringing to a close an enjoyable evening.

Parker Reunion

There was reunion of the families of the late John T. and W. J. Parker in the home of Rogers Parker and his sisters, Misses Fannie Lee and Clyde at Graysport, last Sunday.

It was held at this time in honor of the 79th birthday of Mrs. Laura E. Evans (formerly Mrs. John Parker).

At the noon hour there was a bounteous dinner served cafeteria style in the lovely dining room of the home. Those present were L. W. John T. and H. Y. Parker and their families, of Cruger, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Sims and sons, of Memphis, Mrs. Claude T. Parker and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Davis and son, Walter V. Jr., (the youngest member of the two families), of Grenada, H. M. Parker, of Quitman, Mrs. Gelon Brannon, of Winona, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Willis and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Perry and daughter, and Mrs. W. S. Willis, all of Graysport, Mrs. Pearl Provine Bailey, of Coffeeville, a niece of the honoree.

Quite a number of friends and relatives called in the afternoon among them Mr. Dolf Clark, of Big Creek, who is in his 94th year. The occasion was such a happy one that it was decided to make it an annual affair honoring Mrs. Evans.

The next reunion to be held on the plantation home of L. W. Parker near Cruger.

South Advised To Hunt Extra Money Source

Supplementary Income for Farmers Called Key To Prosperity

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—If southern farmers can find means of earning extra money in time they can spare from their crops, greatest economic problems of Dixie can be solved, according to a high official of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

This statement came after Rep. Walter Chandler, D., Tenn., had suggested that TVA lead the attack on economic problems outlined in the report of the National Emergency Council to President Roosevelt.

The TVA official said that if farmers could find another source of income, problems of health, housing, education and almost all others eventually would be solved. He said that the problems presented in the NEC report for the entire South already had been met by the authority on a small scale and were being solved.

River Work Effective

"Development of navigation on the Tennessee river—even at its present incomplete stage—also is bearing fruit in reduction of transportation costs."

The TVA official said that in regard to labor, any statement that labor in the South is inferior to that in the North is untrue.

Chandler pointed out that problems specified in the NEC report as the South's worst ills were identical to those that TVA already has encountered in its program.

"Designation of TVA to lead in the drive toward elimination economic problems in the South would require that the authority be made southward in scope," Chandler said, "and in my opinion a large majority of the house and senate would support the move to put the TVA in charge of remedial action to end the South's status as the nation's No. 1 economic problem."

"The people of the South really have no false pride about our section, and we appreciate constructive criticism that may point the way to greater progress."

National Obligation Stressed

"The essential thing is to overcome the obstacles. To segregate the issues, those relating to freight rate differentials, high tariffs and inadequate rural housing primarily are national obligations."

Freight rates unfair to the South long have been under fire and have been condemned from virtually every business in the southland.

Chandler declared that lack of educational facilities, absentee ownership and low industrial wages belong under the dominion of states.

"The handicaps of insufficient machinery, migration of labor, unskilled workers, necessary hazards of cotton, all should and can be solved by individuals affected," Chandler said.

He listed three suggestions for overcoming obstacles to Southern prosperity.

1. Put into use the extensive facilities of TVA. "As a laboratory and planning agency, it is especially equipped to take the lead and all the factors happen to be combined in the Tennessee Valley."

2. Carefully planned intra-sectional programs under competent and unselfish leadership.

3. Establishment of the practice of buying products manufactured or grown close to home. "That would increase competition and force freight rate equalization."

Best Corn Returns Secured By Feeding Hogs, Curing Pork

Holton Recommends Corn Belt Practice Most Profitably Utilize Good Corn Crop of 1938.

With a good corn crop in prospect and a temporary surplus likely to be available for sale, prevailing low corn prices have prompted the suggestion from agricultural workers that 1938 is a good year for Mississippi to emulate the corn belt practice of marketing the corn crop through hogs.

That this practice will be followed in Mississippi possibly more generally than within many years is evident from ready markets for feeder pigs throughout the state. However, it is generally reported that large numbers of Mississippi pigs are being sold for delivery in other states, and it is suggested that the wise farmer make sure of enough pigs for his own requirements while the supply is adequate.

In other sections of the country, where corn is the money crop instead of the cotton with which Mississippi are familiar, more recent portions have found it more profitable to market their corn through hogs and cattle than by selling the corn direct. There are exceptions, of course, but year in and year out corn belt farmers have found that a bushel of corn brings more money when marketed through livestock than when sold direct to the grain elevator. Official statistics show that less than one out of every ten bushels of corn produced in the United States is marketed as grain.

"We have added reasons for marketing our corn through livestock in Mississippi," states C. Holton, Commissioner of Agriculture. "Our so-called corn surplus, even in years of bumper production, is only a seasonal surplus, and even in the case of these bumper years we are buying grain from other areas before many months have passed. We avoid paying high prices later on and we conserve soil fertility by feeding our corn at home."

"Then, too, we Mississippians buy enormous quantities of cured meats which can be more economically produced at home. By feeding home-raised corn to home-raised hogs, and by curing the pork whether at home or in the nearby cold storage curing houses, we can enormously increase the profit of pork production and make another substantial advance in the program of diversification."

Mississippi Forest And Park News

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 15, 1938

"One forest or grass fire will burn between October 1, 1938, and May 1, 1939, for every 1,000 acres of potential forest land in Mississippi," according to the prediction of State Forester Fred B. Merrill.

"Four million acres of burned areas with forest reproduction killed or damaged, wild life cover and food gone or depleted, and rapid water water run-off and soil erosion augmented by exposed soil surfaces will be the result. Damages never will be estimated accurately because of the impossibility of measuring lost industries and payrolls, silt damages, lost revenues from sportsmen and unknown support that these and other factors could give to local and state governments and the people who make them up, but by any conservative measure Mississippi will be the loser by at least $5,000,000," he says.

The State Forester bases his predictions on the past twelve year records of the State Forestry Commission, and reports that the figures given are much less than half those found at the time the commission was organized. Continuing he says, "Whether or not our state will take the loss this year is entirely with our people. Of the expected 20,000 fires, 19,800 will be started by persons in the state. Most people never start a fire during a lifetime but few people start many in a day. On September 27, 1938, our reports show that one unknown person set 12 fires in one community. Education and cooperation in law enforcement to the end that the number of fires started is reduced greatly, must be obtained before the Mississippi Forestry Commission can conduct its work on a satisfactory basis."

"National Fire Prevention Week October 9-15, 1938, presents an opportunity for every person to help forestation through fire prevention because forests mean continued employment and wealth in Mississippi."

Ole Miss News Bureau News

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—After the gloom from the heart-breaking 12-7 loss to Vanderbilt had broken somewhat today, older students on the campus recalled several games of recent seasons that compared with Ole Miss' last minute defeat Saturday.

When Hardy Housman took Lonnie Hollins 31-yard throw in the final 25 seconds of the game Saturday, the pass was an almost exact duplication of the one that Gene Rose of Tennessee handled in the final 45 seconds of the Mississippi-Tennessee tilt of 1935, wherein the Vols edged Ole Miss out at 14-13. That one-point loss was the only conference beating the Rebels suffered in '35.

In 1936 Ole Miss had Temple by a 7-6 margin with slightly more than a minute to play when two long aerials that were knocked down and into the hands of Owl receivers ultimately resulted in a 12-7 win for the Philadelphia team.

Coach Harry Mebre had nothing but praise for his Rebels. "We made mistakes," he said this morning, "but they were natural ones; no team can play perfect ball all through a game."

"I thought the team did exceptionally well in coming so near a victory against a seasoned eleven like Vanderbilt."

"Listen, The Wind" a real treat for those who read "North to the Orient". Mrs. Lindbergh has written just as delightfully of her's and Colonel Lindbergh's flight from South America to Africa as she did of the Orient. The foreword by Col. Lindbergh is as terse and scientific as the rest of the book is poetic and picturesque.

The companion book of "Return to Religion" has been put out by Mr. Link. It is called "The Rediscovery of Man", in it Mr. Link says that personality is not a gift but an achievement.

GEORGIA MOB RUNS WILD

SMYRNA, Ga.—Nearly 50 state and county police patrolled the Smyrna vicinity today to prevent recurrence of anti-negro demonstrations which followed a negro's confession to beating to death a farmer and his daughter.

At least 15 negroes were stoned or beaten and a negro school was burned last night by a mob estimated to contain 500 farmers and mill hands, and a few women.

Members of the mob stopped the Atlanta-Marietta trolley and walked down the aisle, falling negro passengers with sticks.

They threatened to march to Atlanta, 12 miles away, where the alleged killer, Willie Russell, was lodged in Fulton Tower, the impregnable county jail. The tower guard was doubled.

The mob, however, lacked leadership and was easily broken up by state and county police enlisted by Thurmond White, night police chief of Smyrna.

LEAVES SKIN SOFT AND SWEET

ON THE FIRING LINE

From early morning 'till late at night your Jitney-Jungle store management is "on the firing line"—meeting traveling salesmen direct from manufacturers and pounding down price barriers—al short, buying the best of foods at the lowest prices so as to pass the benefits of cash purchases right on to cash customers. No wonder Jitney-Jungle prices are always the cheapest!
